

ADMISSIONS AND ENTRY REQUIREMENTS

The admissions requirements are setup in such a way that it supports the students in reaching the intended programme learning outcomes by the end of the 4-year study period at the Department of Mechanical Engineering

The admissions and entry requirements ensure that the students who are admitted to the degree programme possesses the required competences and formal training required to be able to follow the degree programme successfully. These requirements ensure that all admitted students are treated equally.

Students admitted to the department come from three sources:

- Local students, who are citizens of the Turkish Republic of Northern Cyprus (TRNC)
- Students from Turkey, who are Turkish citizens
- Students from other countries (Foreign students)

All students are admitted to the university after they complete their high school studies successfully and obtain high school graduation diplomas.

Local students must sit for the Near East University entrance examination and obtain a pass mark from this examination. Successful students are admitted to the university, but not necessarily to the Department of Mechanical Engineering.

Students from Turkey must select the Near East University and the Department of Mechanical Engineering as their choice, and they must obtain successful pass marks from the Turkish university entrance examinations (prepared and administered by the Higher Education Council of Turkey, YOK). Those who obtain the required marks are admitted to the university, but not necessarily to the Department of Mechanical Engineering.

Students from other countries are admitted to the university based on the results of their high school graduation diplomas.

Because the medium of teaching is in English, the level of their English is assessed by the Faculty of English language. Those students who have certificates and who have already passed English Language proficiency examinations are exempt from the English preparation school and are admitted directly to the department where they are enrolled for the first year and first semester of their studies. Those students whose levels of English writing and communication skills are below the required standards are admitted to the English preparatory school of the university. The English preparatory school offers concentrated teaching of the English language reading, writing, and communication skills. The duration of the preparatory school is one academic calendar. Successful students are admitted to the department at the end of their studies at the English preparatory school.

The admissions and entry requirements for national and international students is given in Appendix D. In addition, the accepted international high school diplomas and certificates for most countries are given in this Appendix.

Students are required to fill an application form before they are accepted to the university. A blank application form is shown in Appendix D. The university seeks to admit academically qualified students who desire a challenging and comprehensive education in the departments. The filled application form is available online. Students can either send their applications online or alternatively by post.
