

Research Interest May 2017

Mehmet Karagözlü

I am master program student Mehmet Karagözlü. I can not start the thesis because I am still in the middle of course. But the projects that I want to research both in my thesis and in my future studies are as follows.

My first project is researching the benefits of some fruits grown in Cyprus, the way they are stored for storage and the extension of their shelf life and how new products can be obtained.

My second project will be on microbiological study for milk and dairy products
